CAREER ISSUE

Secretary Tells Neil Jensen's 5th About Red Cross

We interviewed Mrs. Vernice Jensen, Executive Secretary of our Red Cross in Carmel. Her training included attending the University of California and working in Y.M.C.A. She has also served overseas. She has been with the Red Cross for ten years and with the Carmel Chapter for one and a half years.

Her regular duties are to see that the Red Cross policies are carried on.

We learned that the Carmel Chapter received its charter on October 23, 1916. Then, we got into the subject of civil defense. If the civil defense called on the Red Cross, it would always help. She said that Carmel is just a secondary area. (It is not an important bombing target.) If San Francisco were bombed, about a thousand people would be sent to the Carmel area. The Red Cross job is to see that they have shelters, cots, blankets, food and any other thing that they need.

We started talking about natural disasters. The most recent one in Carmel area was when the Carmel River flooded last year. The Red Cross is to help all that are in need because of natural disaster. When natural disaster spreads (such as flood, fire, etc.), the Red Cross goes to the rescue of the victims. If a home is destroyed, the Red Cross may supply the family with clothing, food and money to help build another home. If people are killed or injured, the Red Cross sends aid or information to their relatives.

By Susan Nutter, Junior

This week I would like to slip into Mrs. Cook's esteemed place, and again present the case for the eighteen year old vote.

Of course, first is the well-known argument that if eighteen year olds are old enough to fight, they are old enough to vote. Lowering the draft age to eighteen presents the situation of compelling these boys to fight for their country but does not give them a voice in running that country. This is unfair and is not in keeping with our American ideals.

Other good arguments on the pro side of this issue are: (1) Eighteen year olds are now better educated, better informed on public questions than this age group was at the time twenty-one was set as the coming of age for voting purposes. They are as capable of voting as those twenty-one or older. (2) Youth is the age of idealism. Their idealistic viewpoint would be a valuable addition to the electorate and would help to secure better public officials. (3) Large numbers of young people come out of high school eager to assume responsibilities as citizens and voters. By lowering the voting age, there will be no lapse of time before they can put this into practice. (4) Youth is entrusted with other heavy responsibilities. Twenty-one is not a standard for maturity in all things. (5) If the vote is given to these young people, our political standards would be raised. The young people are not biased by party lines nor party standards. (6) American youths believe in the American form of government and the American way of life. There are many other arguments for this measure.

I would like to list a few quotes pro and con to show that notable people are already aware of this problem. "If a man is old enough

Credit Line . . .

For the past 23 years, the public School edition of the Pine Cone has been written entirely by Carmel students. The sports page, news, Pine Needles, art work and some of the interviews were done by the high school students, and many of Carmel's well-known business people were interviewed by Sunset and Woods School students, and questioned about their respective careers and interests.

The unusual cover design this year was created by Joan Engle, twelve year old seventh grader of Sunset School. This original design carries out the general theme of career possibilities and incorporates the ideas of business, science, sports, arts, air, land, and sea.

The students who wrote and contributed to the paper have been given credit following their articles and the names of the Needle editors will be found at the top of the Needle page.

Student Editor for the 23rd School Issue is Carole Byers, High School Senior.

The above pictured boys of Carmel High School are taking the motor out of a surplus Navy rocket, of which two were purchased at a great bargain with school funds. The boys are Bruce Bixler, Reed Putnam, and George Collins. They plan to take the motor apart and study it, then they will make a playground apparatus out of the fuselage for the Woods School. They are also conducting experiments with rocket fuel in the chemistry lab at the high school.

Why Did You Choose Your Career? 7th Graders Interview Carmelites On Their Work And Their Play

CAREER INTERVIEWS

By Orville Roger's 7th Grade

GORDON CAMPBELL, Attorney
Gordon Campbell decided to be an attorney when he finished high school. He became interested in law because he wanted to have a hand in protecting the lives of people and their properties.

He got his Bachelor's Degree at Stanford and his Law Degree at the University of Oregon. Altogether it took him seven years.

He likes his work very much because constantly new and arising things come up that require research. He does not dislike anything about his job.

In his leisure time, Mr. Campbell reads a lot of books and belongs to the Navy and American League and attends many athletic events on the Peninsula and spends his vacations at the White Rock Club in the Valley.

ARNE HALLE, Banker

Mr. Halle is the Vice President of the Bank of Carmel. He went to the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, British Columbia. He started to college with no thoughts of being anything. After he had been there awhile, his class recommended that he be a banker. Not having any other contracts, this sounded very fascinating.

He had no financial study, but started working in September of 1927 at the Bank of Carmel. At first, there were only three employees; but, during the 25 years he has worked at the bank, the employees have increased to 21.

When he started there wasn't a thing he disliked about banking. He liked the satisfaction of being able to help people financially and liked getting to know his customers.

In his spare time, he likes to paint fish, and work in the garden. He likes to be outside because of having to be in the bank all day.

While we were at the bank making this interview, Mr. Halle took us through the vaults and showed us a lot of machines that make it a lot easier for the employees to work.

CHILDREN'S WORK AT ART GALLERY

Opening Monday at Carmel Art Association Gallery, running in conjunction with Public Schools Week, is an exhibit of representative elementary art from Sunset and Woods schools. Mr. William C. Buckman, art instructor at the schools, planned and set up the exhibit to show the charm and natural design of elementary children's art. The theme of the exhibit is a circus representing the pleasure of innate creative expression. The variety and similarity of expressions of both primary and upper grades will be of interest to the parent, artist, and casual observer. The freedom and naivete of the art are sure to be enjoyable to all.

JOSEPH FRAME, Craftsman
Have you ever noticed the delightful seagull and squirrel street signs in Carmel? One of our noted local craftsmen, Mr. Joseph Frame, created them.

He decided upon his career in 1933, feeling it provided a chance for creativeness which he enjoys.

He had three years of training at the Fay Showcard School in Los Angeles. Then he became a newspaper artist on the Los Angeles Examiner. He came to Carmel to paint, but now he specializes in woodcarving. He also does silk screening and makes cards.

He says that creative work goes into the tradition of Carmel. He enjoys making unique signs.

Of course, his job is not an easy one. Long hours and hard work are the main disadvantages. He works from about seven to five, but he has a lot of night work also. So he does not have much leisure time.

While we were interviewing him we noticed that several lovely paintings and loads of signs filled his shop.

Certainly his job seems interesting.

"Mr. Jackson," I asked, "where and how did you get interested in the job that you are holding now?"

Public School Week

By Judy Oliver, Junior

Come on parents, let's go to school! Yes, Public Schools Week is here again from April 29 to May 1. Classes will be open to parents the entire week with various displays and activities being presented.

The High School especially urges parents to come on Wednesday when classes will be held from 2:00 p.m. until approximately 8:00 p.m. This is to enable working parents to see the classes in action after their working hours. During the week the Girls' Athletic Association of the High School will sponsor a baby-sitting project where small children may be safely watched while their parents are viewing the classes.

Sunset School will also be open the entire week with the following special activities being held:

Monday, April 27, at 1:00 o'clock the annual Folk Dance Festival will be held on the South Field, with all grades participating.

Wednesday is the Fathers and Sons baseball game at 3:45 o'clock on the North Field. The sixth and seventh graders will be in one game and the fourth and fifth graders in another.

Thursday, April 30, Student Body Meeting in the auditorium at 1:05 o'clock. Also Mrs. Sproull's sixth grade will present a program.

There will be no special events at Woods School but the school will be open to parents the entire week for visiting purposes.

Peninsula Week

By Carole Byers, Senior

This Monday will be a big day for Sam De Mello and a delegation of Seaside citizens representing the Seaside Chamber of Commerce. They will go before the County Planning Commission at Salinas to petition the board to put Laguna Grande on the county master plan for acquisition as a State park. Their plan for the development of the small lake on the west side of Del Monte Avenue includes a yacht basin with a canal outlet to the ocean, making it possible to moor small crafts. The developments for this site include a clubhouse for the sportsmen, and possibly an auditorium on the sand dunes overlooking the bay.

The plans for the big lake are somewhat more elaborate. On the northerly side they propose a picnic and barbecue area. They feel that this picnic site should appeal to the State because it would help to alleviate some of the crowd at Big Sur. There would be no camping at this location, however, only picnicking.

On the Seaside side, the plans would include a park area, a drive-in restaurant, a concert shell overlooking the bay, an administration building, a swimming pool,

$66,200 Low Bid For Sanitary Plant Improvements

E. T. Haas Co. of Belmont, California, the lowest of five bidders, received the contract for additions to the sanitary treatment plant, at the Sanitary Board meeting last Monday night. Their bid of $66,200.00, was selected from other bids ranging up to $91,782.00.

The four other bidders were: Midwest Contracting Co., from Sacramento, with $68,592; C. Norman Peterson, Berkeley, $74,236; S. & Q. Construction Co., San Francisco, $79,798; Stolte Inc., Monterey, $80,976; and W. J. Nicholson Co., San Jose, $91,782.

The work consists of new clarifier, sludge heater and building, and an eighteen inch effluent pipe line. They are expected to begin the work in the next thirty days, and it must be completed within two hundred days. There is no penalty if they do not finish before the time limit, although they are urged to do so.

what preparation was necessary?" "In those days there were not the facilities to prepare yourself that are available today, so it was important to have the backing of a good concern and a very wide acquaintance."

"What advantages are there to your job?" I asked.

He pondered thoughtfully, then replied:

"The land is the basis of all wealth, and a home is the backbone of a nation."

"Not to be too personal," I said, "But what do you do in your spare time?"

"I'm president of the County Fair Committee, I've organized the Carmel Rotary Club (as well as being president of it), I'm president of the Real Estate Board and I'm active in many other civic organizations."

The interview was ended, and as I was leaving, he told me politely that he felt very honored to be interviewed by such an attractive young lady. But to me it was much more of an honor to be able to interview such a fine man as Corum Jackson!

KAY RODGERS, Artist

As we stepped into Kay Rodgers' studio for the interview, we saw many different paintings that were really lovely. Miss Rodgers said that to be an artist requires long, hard work and many years of study.

Miss Rodgers decided to be an artist when she completed her high school work. Her mother and father had both been artists.

For four years she went to the Industrial Arts School of Philadelphia. This school taught all different types of art and helped the student learn the particular field in which he was best. Miss Rodgers was best in still life and portraits.

Kay Rodgers thinks the good things about being an artist are the satisfaction and happiness one gets in trying to show the beauty of nature or the personality of a person. Her teacher was Mr. Warshawsky, a world famous artist.

Some of the disadvantages of being an artist come because of the long hard road which is often discouraging.

During her leisure time Miss Rodgers teaches at night school, and has private students. Her hobbies are reading and meeting people. She has been in Carmel, teaching and painting, for ten years. She is certainly a charming and interesting person to interview.

THOMAS ELSTON, Architect

Mr. Elston decided to follow his career because he was good in mathematics, mechanics, and he liked to draw.

In order to become an architect you have to have five years of college in a school which has classes in architecture. Just recently Stanford University added classes in architecture. Mr. Elston received his training at the University of California.

He likes his career because he is dealing with happy people who are very excited about building. Everything is different because no two houses are alike. There are new problems in each house and it's fun to see a house that he designed, being finished. He likes his job so it makes it easier for him.

He started his career in 1935 and he had a choice of new ca-

One of the good things about his career is that you get to work inside on rainy days.

The disadvantages of his career you have to know many things about plumbing, carpentry, being an electrician and you also have to be an artist.

In his leisure he is a family man and enjoys skiing, tennis and swimming.

On the whole he enjoys his career very much because it offers many opportunities to meet many people and do many things.

DAVID ALBERTO, Composer and Musician

It was our pleasure to spend a very interesting and inspiring afternoon with a well known musician and composer, Mr. David Alberto.

We asked him why he had chosen that particular career. He said he didn't have much choice as he grew up in a family of musicians. He was born in San Francisco. His most exciting experience was when he was 16 and heard Frank La Forge play in the Greek Theatre in Berkeley. Out of the two thousand people there he was to be the one to go to Europe with Mr. La Forge. This came about later when he played for Mr. La Forge who said he had great possibilities and would take him to Europe. Mr. Alberto was very proud to be taken to Europe by the famed La Forge who was a pupil of Leschellizky. Alberto spent much time in Europe and came back just after World War I. He moved to Carmel in 1926 and has been here since.

When he was asked what the disadvantages of his career are he replied:

"The disadvantages are so numerous that there is no point in naming them in such a small article. One of the disadvantages, however, is that a man desires to be superior to his fellow men. To be superior to his fellow men he must have one of the aristocracies; either the aristocracy of birth, the aristocracy of wealth or the aristocracy of intellect. As a musician I cannot reach any of these. Yet, I am very satisfied with my work."

When we asked him what he did in his spare time, he surprised us by showing us his beautiful but obviously time consuming garden which was a joy to see. We noticed one particular section, his fruit trees which seemed to offer a challenge to this artist; the challenge being his strong hope for at least three plums in place of the two that the tree produced last year.

Mr. Alberto's main interest right now, other than his interesting students, is his opera, The Temple, which he started 12 years ago.

Donald Teague Got His Start Drawing For School Paper

By Jim Angier, Senior

Hard work, outstanding ability, plus a fine artist, gives you commercial artist Donald Teague, Carmel's own. Mr. Teague came to Carmel just a few years ago from New York where he had been studying at the New York Art Students League.

Mr. Teague started his career very early in life, drawing pictures for his high school paper and year-book. After high school Mr. Teague went on to the Art Students League, New York. It was at this art school that the turning point of his career came, for he got a scholarship his first year there.

After art school Mr. Teague studied as an apprentice in, advertising art, while saving money for his trip to England to study water color. It was in England that he got his supreme style in water color work.

Mr. Teague, one of the nation's leading magazine illustrators, has done illustration work for all of the leading magazines.

Mr. Teague, among other awards, has won the highest water color award you can get, when he received his prize gold medal from the American Water Color Society. He has won other numerous firsts including a first place in the

Fourth Annual Youth Follies One Of Most Successful Offered To Date

By CAROLE BYERS, Senior

The fourth annual Youth Follies opened in a blaze of fast chatter and corny jokes by MCs Gerry McDonald, Buzz Knight, Denny Johnson and Pat Grimshaw. Following a greeting by Youth Center president Bill Chalkley, an introduction by Mr. J. O. Handley and a brief message by Mr. Fred Godwin, the show was officially under way. The first act as a chorus line consisting of Susan Nutter, Peg Weaver, Dianne Weaver, Melinda Scheffer, Judy Oliver, Judy Rigby, Sydney Tice, and Luan Meath-eringham arrayed in early 1900 bathing suits and doing a cute dance routine to By the Sea. Amy Luce gave an effective musical reading entitled, It's Tough to be the Youngest in the Family, and Ann Hicks played the beautiful Moonlight Sonata on the piano.

The trumpet duo of John Menand and Sam Smith, with Leslie Doolittle at the piano, offered a very impressive version of Punch and Judy. Judy and Mickey Shintani and Sumi Sumida performed a Japanese folk dance dressed in beautiful authentic costumes. O Happy Day was the title of an instrumental trio played by Les Doolittle, Tom McGlynn and John Thompson. Pamela Beales' song and dance routine, Walking My Baby Back Home, proved to be a show-stopper when Pam executed some very intricate tap steps.

Ronnie Shelton's song, You'll Never Know was followed by Craven Ross, a j.g. Jerry Lewis, and his version of A Concert Violinist? The ever-popular Janet Miyamoto did a baton and tap routine with her usual poise and thoroughly entranced the audience by bringing her tiny sister on stage twirling a miniature baton. John Thompson's piano solo, Slaughter on 10th Avenue, was followed by petite Bonnie Wager's beautiful ballet solo. A bottle and fife act consisting of Sam Smith, John Menand, Barbara Mitchell, Charlotte Boyd, Tom McGlynn, Millard Martin, Gretchen Herron, Cynthia Cox, George Wightman, and Mary Osbourne was very amusing.

Buzz Knight and Pat Grimshaw did a satirical take-off on Sonny Boy much to the delight of the audience. The Y.C. mixed chorus line, beautifully costumed, thanks to Bing Crosby and Paramount Studio, did a dance act to Side by Side. Special thanks should go to dance teacher Joanne Nix for helping to make this number so enjoyable. The chorus members are Janet Grafft, Karen von Meier, Pat Chedester, Linda Feek, Sylvia Heinselman, Judy Oliver, Karla Fritzche, Barbara Frizzell, Don Leidig, Chip Buerger, Craig Moore, Mike Ricketts, Ron Woolverton, Myron Branson, Jerry Colman, and Butch Laugenour. Mary Garcia did a very fine job as wardrobe mistress and Babs Balzer was an efficient call girl. The hard-working stage crew was Arleigh Jones, Dick Ledbetter, Ted Ledbetter, Bill Rodgers, Bob Lemmon, Howard Roloff, and Fred Askew. Bill Gorham and Ray March operated the spotlight.

The second act opened with a vivacious Charleston routine to Yessir, That's My Baby, by Pat Ricketts, Sally Spurr, Pam Koehler, Leigh Buchanan, Lynda Malis, Gail Fisher, Penny Stuefloten, Connie Nielsen, Lucy Carmalt and Toni Hamilton. One of the evening's highlights was the take-off on the girls' Charleston performed by Denny Mahar, Ronnie Huffman, Bill Rodgers, Denny Johnson, Pete Newell, Myron Branson, Denny Gerber, Buzz Knight, Bob Douglas, Peter Brickley, and Chip Buerger, appropriately costumed in flapper dresses, helmet hats and proper make-up. The talented Denny Johnson gave a slightly hysterical version of I Went to Your Wedding. The beautiful harmony of the Girls' Sextette, Plus One, made this act one of the more professional numbers of the show. The talented singers were Donna Douglas, Audrey Campbell, Diane Lewis, Kathy Seipel, Audra Harris, Juanita Harris, and Margaret Harris.

Bashful little Lyle Shelton gave an amusing reading of The Horse and was followed by Go to Sleep, as interpreted by Karen von Meier and Cherie Addenin. Another fine act was a twin piano presentation of Deep Purple played by Gail Fisher and Lynda Malis. Betty Colman followed by singing You Were Meant for Me.

Sydney Tice did a very professional cane and tap dance to Jazz Pizzacatto with complete poise.

The Westerners, Denny Mahar, Dick Holt, Tony Weaver, David Gray, Johnny Mason, and Chris Gray, played In the Mood, Cheating Heart, and The Fox, on guitars, an accordion, and a steel guitar. Messrs. McDonald, Grimshaw, Johnson, and Knight performed a comical skit, The Knucklehead Hat Company, with veteran showmanship. Leslie Doolittle and Pat Burgess sang a lovely duet from Showboat and earlier in the program Pat sang April Showers. Bill Rodgers and Jim Miller pantomimed When You and I Were Young Maggie Blues in the well-known Crosby father and son style. The Shintani sisters' tap dance was followed by Dick Junkin singing Through the Years. ria, Al Avina, Jimmy Hollingsworth, Ruth Holick, Geraldine Hawksworth, Sandra Lutz, Beulah Lewis and Jessica Manu. An amusing skit, The Ironing Board was ably performed by Sydney Tice with the willing assistance of

What's new about
"TT" DYNAFLOW?

The TAKE-OFF'S
TERRIFIC!

It's only fair to warn you.

When you try a new Buick with the sensational Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive,* you'll tingle all over with thrill.

You'll sweep your speedometer needle from zero to 30 mph so quickly, you won't have time to breathe but twice. You'll move from a standing start to legal speed so quietly, you'll practically hear your heart beat. You'll experience such complete and utter smoothness every step of the way, you'll be wholly relaxed, refreshed, and ready for more.

This is not dream stuff. This is real.

This is what actually happens when you're at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with TT Dynaflow.

Twin Turbines in the Dynaflow unit, instead of just a single one—in addition to other engineering advances—make the tremendous difference.

So you feel a firmer and more immediate "take hold"—get far faster getaway, new quiet and efficiency, plus infinite smoothness to and through every speed range.

There's a lot more to be had, of course, in these great new Buicks. Higher horsepowers and compression ratios. A still finer ride. Easier handling. Improved visibility. More comfort and richer interiors.

But start with take-off—the greatest in Buick's fifty great years—and learn the rest of the story from there. Can you drop in on us this week?

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

MONTEREY AND BELLARMINE AT CARMEL

The Monterey mermen are favored in their Saturday morning swim with Bellarmine and Carmel at Carmel. Little is known about the Bellarmine swim team, and Carmel has had poor Varsity attendance during practice sessions, which accounts for favoring Monterey. The first event will start at 11:00 a.m. at the Carmel High School pool.

Don Frey is expected to take the individual medley for Carmel Varsity, and Allen Knight is defending his CCAL record in the backstroke.

WIN PISTOL MATCH

Carmel has good reason to be proud of its Police Department. At a pistol match at Santa Cruz last Wednesday night, Chief Clyde Klaumann's team outshot the Santa Cruz team 1,257 points to 1,240 points on slow time and rapid action. The team consisted of Earl Wermuth, Jim Kelsey, Noel Clara-but, Chief Klaumann and Special Police Vince Torres, Jr.

Christmas Comes To Bill O'Malley's Home In June

By Tina Howcroft, Junior

"Keep plugging and don't let the rejections throw you—okay!" This was Bill O'Malley's reply when asked for advice to up-and-coming young cartoonists, at an interview last week.

The congenial Mr. O'Malley is a native Californian, born and educated in Oakland. Early in his career he worked for the Oakland Post Inquirer and the San Francisco Call Bulletin to become a free lance cartoonist. He studied at Arts and Crafts School in Oakland, and incidentally, is still taking art courses once a week in Carmel on life study.

Ever since Mr. O'Malley became a free lance cartoonist, he has been extremely interested in golf. His love of golf and cartooning were the inspirations for his latest book, Golf Fore Fun, which has been a big success. All the drawings and gags he uses are his own creations, and between books he does free lance cartooning for many national magazines. He has done cartooning all his life.

"When doing cartoons for magazines," Mr. O'Malley stated with obvious pleasure, "I first do a pencil sketch with captions on paper 8½ by 11" that can be purchased in any stationery store. I then mail about 10 or 15 drawings with a self-addressed envelope to the editor of that certain magazine. The editor "okays" the drawings of his choice and the approved rough sketches are then done in pen and ink on two-ply drawing paper and sent back to the editor, while I wait for the check."

His cartoons are done from three to six months before they appear in a magazine or paper. Consequently, in the summer he works on the winter gags and vice-versa. To quote Mr. O'Malley, "Christmas comes to our house in June."

Mr. O'Malley said that anyone interested in cartooning as a career should, first of all, get all the art experience possible, then take up basic drawing. He thinks that Carmel has a wonderful environment and there are many opportunities for boys and girls who want to make art in any form their career. His last words were, "Cartooning is hard work but a lot of fun!"

IRIS CRANE

Peter Glod's 5th Investigates Art And Food

The 4th and 5th grade at the Carmel Woods School went on a field trip to the Carmel Art Gallery with our art teacher, Mr. Buckman.

We went down on the school bus and some children went in Mr. Buckman's car.

When we arrived inside the art gallery, Mr. Buckman told us that we were going to see first, oil paintings, and then, water colors. First we saw a modern painting. Mr. Buckman said that it was a contemporary painting which means that it was painted in our times.

Next, we saw a picture of some trees on a mountain. Mr. Buckman said it was a picture of nature. We also saw some pictures of the ocean which were called seascapes and some portraits of people.

I enjoyed the visit to the art gallery very much.

—Arlene Bannerman

The cafeteria at Carmel Woods School has made a great improvement. A new multi-purpose room replaced the temporary cafeteria which occupied one of our class rooms. Only a small number of children could eat lunch at one time in this crowded room. The new multi-purpose room is large enough to have all the children eat lunch together. The tables in the cafeteria are nicely arranged. After lunch hour, the tables are folded up against the wall. This allows the room free for other school activities. Above the tables are orange and blue flags which play a part in our lunch program. A host or hostess is in charge of one of the tables while the children are eating their lunch. It is their duty to have a nice, quiet table during lunch time. The host and hostess meet once a month with Mrs. McCausland to discuss and improve conditions in the cafeteria. The plan the host and hostess thought was best is that children should not talk at the table while eating. If a person is through eating, he should not talk to others that are eating. Not until all children are through are they allowed to whisper. If any table breaks its rules and is noisy, their flag is taken away. No flag has been removed so far to date, and we hope none are taken away ever.

There is one thing that hasn't changed one bit... and that is the wonderful food served in the cafeteria. No matter what kitchen Mrs. Anderson works in, the food always tastes the same. Um-m it tastes so good.

—The Woods School Helpers

The boys and girls in the Freshman class of Carmel High School have taken it upon themselves to build a patio by the cafeteria in order that they might have some place to enjoy their lunches other than in the crowded lunch room. This project was promoted by George Wightman. Randy Houghtelling drew up the plans, and the boys of the Freshman class are supplying the muscle power, while the school itself is furnishing all the supplies.

This project, while being useful, is also boosting the class spirit up several notches. —Lyle Shelton

Space Travel Fan, Dr. Zellhoefer, Believes Because It Is Impossible

By MARY ADAMS, Senior

The Monterey Peninsula is filled with interesting and colorful personalities, but we are unusually fortunate in having Dr. Howard Zellhoefer as an outstanding addition. This I concluded when he very kindly granted me an interview last week.

Dr. Zellhoefer was raised in the middle west. In the beginning of his college education he attended the University of South Dakota.

He later received his M.D. degree from the Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Zellhoefer has served several years in the Air Force and while in the military service expanded his hobby of Space Travel.

He completed a year of post graduate work at the School of Aviation Medicine, located at Randolph Field, Texas, and upon graduation he became a rated flight surgeon.

Dr. Zellhoefer has done considerable work in physiology concerning human reactions at supersonic speeds and other problems dealing with the possibilities of humans traveling through space to the moon and other planets of the solar system. As a child his imagination was sharpened by reading Jules Verne's book Flight to the Moon, and has been maintained by keeping informed on the present day science fiction thrillers.

It is Dr. Zellhoefer's opinion that atomic energy will soon be available to give the power necessary for a specially designed space craft to escape from the gravitational pull of the earth and penetrate the surrounding air resistance. Free Flight would then be established in outer space and with the use of proper directional controls and timing devices, and barring an unfortunate collision with a wandering meteor, the craft's ultimate destination would be quite unlimited. It is possible that the initial space flight will take place within the next ten years, says Dr. Zellhoefer.

Dr. Zellhoefer has given a number of interesting lectures on space travel to various civic groups on the Monterey Peninsula, and currently has many people talking about flying saucers, life on Mars, the men on the moon, etc.

During his early high school days he adopted a Latin motto, "Credo quia impossibili est" — which means "I believe because it is impossible". Many of us are consciously adopting his motto with minor amendments.

These Carmelites Like Their Work --- Tell 6th Graders Why

CAREER INTERVIEWS By Sarah Sproull's 6th Grade

FRANK HEFLING, Fireman
We visited the Carmel Fire Department to interview Mr. Frank Hefling. In doing so, we got something about the life of a fireman. Mr. Hefling was born in Dayton, Ohio. We asked him how he had become a fireman. He told us a very simple but wonderful answer, "because he wanted to help out in Fire Prevention greatly." We wanted to know of any advantages he considered to being a fireman. He said, again referring to the same meaning, "being able to help out when fires are at hand." He said that there were a couple of disadvantages too. He said he would sit for 24 hours alone at the firehouse while taking his turn on guard in case any reports of fires were made.

We asked what he did in his leisure time. The reply was that he read and played table polo with other firemen on duty. He also spends some time listening to the radio and he hopes for a television set.

He told us that the Fire Station had three men on regular duty and 21 volunteer workers. So you can see that the men of Carmel have respect towards their Fire Prevention.

Mr. Hefling says he likes Carmel best of any town where he has had a job before.

—Sally Bishop, Marjorie Haak

DONALD STANIFORD, Druggist
When Donald T. Staniford was 15 years old he decided to become a druggist. His brother was a doctor and he figured that medical careers ran in the family.

At that time if anyone wanted to take a medical career, he had to have five years of working in a drug store and a high school diploma. Mr. Staniford went to the University of California for a pharmacy course. He studied seven years.

Mr. Staniford likes his job very much. He said there are not necessarily any disadvantages, and he likes everything about his job. In this work he gets in contact with the public.

Mr. Staniford's hobby is gardening. He has lived in Carmel 28 years.

—Irene Fernandez, Janet Fehring

HOPE HASTY, Secretary
Miss Hope Hasty decided to go into bank work in January of 1942 when her present position with the Monterey County Bank, as secretary was available. The job happened to be open and as she says, she took it and has been there ever since.

Miss Hasty had a regular college preparatory course in high school and then took one year of secretarial training. She attended school in California, Connecticut, and New York. She thinks banking is a good career for women because it enables them to learn something about finance. One learns how to handle their own affairs such as real estate, securities and legal affairs.

Miss Hasty especially likes this work because it involves meeting interesting people. She says after 11 years of it she thinks emphatically that people are pretty nice—all different kinds.

According to Miss Hasty the advantages also include profit sharing trust for employees, a retirement plan and Christmas bonuses. And the only disadvantage is being tied down for eight hours a day when one would rather be out in the sunshine basking on the beach.

Miss Hasty keeps busy during any leisure time she has with many different interests—cooking, knitting. Though she has no particular hobby she is interested in many things, music and the out-of-doors particularly. Miss Hasty has made her home in Carmel "on and off" for about 14 years.

—Fritz Scheffer, Deen Rowe

REV. ALFRED B. SECCOMBE, Minister

We went to call on the Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, Rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, to get an interview for the Pine Cone. We wanted to learn why he had chosen this career.

Reverend Seccombe decided on this career in the spring of his last year of college. He said that he reached the conclusion that in Christ would be found the answer to man's problems and needs. His preparation was studying three years at a theological seminary. He started studying for this career three years after graduating from college.

We asked him what was especially good about this career. He told us that it demanded the very best in a man and the whole man. He likes the career because of the simple joy of serving God.

When we asked him what he liked to do with his leisure time, he told us with a smile "loaf".

Reverend Seccombe has now been living in Carmel for six years. He has not lived anywhere else on the Monterey Peninsula before.

—Mary Elstob, Anne Putnam

BETTY GREENE, Stable Owner
When Betty Greene was in college she used to go riding on horseback often. It was then she made up her mind that she would like to have a riding stable of her very own.

Betty learned the hard way about taking care of horses. She said that she went to every horse show she had a chance to see. There she would watch the men at work about the stables. She watched them take care of the animals, feeding, exercising them and many other things. Little by little and day by day she learned more and more about caring for them and eventually for her own horses.

The best thing about this career, according to Miss Greene, is that it gives one who likes horses (and she certainly does) a chance to work with them. Her favorite is the race horse. She says there is lots of hard work to running a stable and little time for much else. When she does have spare time she likes to travel around the country and go to horse races. She has lived in Carmel since 1916.

—Glora Saxman, Karen Oleson

CAREER INTERVIEWS By James Blee's 6th Grade

DR. WESTON, Veterinarian
For a project, each person in Mr. Blee's sixth grade group is interviewing some well known Carmel person. Durell and I interviewed Dr. Weston. This is what we found.

When he was 23 he had worked his way through college as a swimming instructor. It took him five years. Now it takes six years with earning straight A grades because so many people want to be veterinarians.

He told us that the good things about his career are that animals just naturally like him and that he just naturally likes animals. He said that in one way it is easier to treat animals than people. As an example, a doctor might ask a human being if he had a sore throat and even if the person did, he might say, "I'm feeling fine," and confuse the doctor. However, animals can't talk; so, they can't confuse the doctor.

He also told us the bad things about his career. He might be called out at some late hour to work on a sick cow. Sometimes people are hard to get along with and blame the death of their pet onto the doctor, when the animal really died of old age. People just can't seem to understand that dogs and cats have different life spans than people do.

Then he told us what he likes to do in his spare time. He likes to build additions to his house, take pictures, make balsa wood models, or go swimming.

—Nancy Lofton, Durell Decker

DI CRISTINA, Hotelman
Mr. di Cristina studied hotel management in high school. He also studied aeronautical engineering. He graduated when he was about 18 years old. He went to Faucet School in Oakland. Later, he got some business management papers from Chicago.

Mr. di Cristina followed in the footsteps of his parents and has managed hotels since 1940. He has worked only in the hotel business.

His hobbies are fishing and archery. He likes both sports.

Mr. di Cristina was born in Oakland. He came to Carmel May 12, 1952 and became the manager of La Playa Hotel on Camino Real and Eighth Avenue. He is now managing Holman's Guest Ranch in Carmel Valley.

—Donna Sands, Beverly Saxman

STUART MITCHELL, School Superintendent

Mr. Stuart Mitchell is Superintendent of the Carmel Schools. He was born in Oakland and went to school there, and then to the University of California.

Mr. Mitchell taught in the Chico High School where he was principal for seven years. He has been Superintendent of the Carmel schools for five years.

His hobbies are skiing and photography. In the summer, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell go on the John Muir Trail and try to make forty miles, taking photographs as they go.

The Mitchells have two daughters, Barbara in the Carmel High School and Sue here in Sunset.

—Vivian Davis, Suzanne Belvail

FREMONT BALLOU

Mr. Ballou is partly retired now. He does gardening instead of completely retiring because he likes gardening so much. One reason he likes it so much is because he studied agriculture in college.

He was the Chief of Police when he first came to Carmel. He has helped Carmel in many other ways.

He has worked for the government, too. He was a forest-fire fighter and he was in the Reserve Army for 15 years. He has worked down at Big Sur as a forest ranger.

Mr. Ballou went to the University of California and then to Stanford. He went to an agricultural school for two extra years.

He liked working with a man named Dr. Macdougall who had invented a dendrograph. A dendrograph is a machine which is tied around a tree and registers the age of the tree.

Mr. Ballou didn't like working with a bee keeper, because he got stung so much.

In his spare time, he likes to climb mountains. He is a member of the Sierra Club. He likes to go fishing too. And he worked a lot with the Junior Audubon Clubs.

He's a fine man!

—Peter Hensel, Frank Wallace

ARTHUR HULL, School Principal
Sunset's Mr. Hull was born in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada. He went to high school and to college in San Francisco. He came to Sunset School in 1936 as a teacher. In 1940, the man who had been the principal took the job of superintendent and Mr. Hull took the job of principal at Sunset.

Mr. Hull likes to read, pistol shoot, and play golf in his leisure. He is also the secretary of the Carmel Kiwanis Club. He says that he enjoys his work very much and likes working with children and their parents.—Hilary Teague

Catherine Winslow, Priscilla Dutton Delight Musical Art Club Audience

By WILLIAM KAYE, Senior

Members and guests of the Carmel Woman's Club were greatly entertained by the Musical Art Club's presentation of Catherine Winslow, pianist, and Priscilla Dutton, lyric soprano, in a recital last Sunday afternoon at the Woman's Club in Carmel.

The program, which was divided into three parts, was begun by Catherine Winslow, who is a student of Jesusa Gudi Fremont. As her first selection, Miss Winslow played a rather modern composition by Renzo Rossellin entitled Poemetti Pagani. This composition, of which there were four parts, enabled Miss Winslow to show her versatility and mastery of the pianoforte.

A modern transcription of Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso in D Minor by Casella concluded the first part of the program by Miss Winslow. This composition demanded both power and feeling from the pianist as it changed from the tiniest pianissimo to the loudest fortissimo. Miss Winslow always kept the purity and crispness of tone that is apparent in the early eighteenth century music as she played the Concerto.

The audience was equally pleased by the performance of Priscilla Dutton, lyric soprano. In the second part of the afternoon's program, Miss Dutton, in singing four compositions, showed that her voice has had excellent and rigorous training. It is seldom that one finds a girl of Miss Dutton's age with such a pure and clear voice.

Miss Dutton, accompanied by Virginia Bowe, sang Lungi Del Caro Bene by Sarti, an eighteenth century composer; Nebbie and Stornellatrice by Respighi, a twentieth century composer; and Aria De Lia (L'Enfant Prodigue) by Debussy, which ended the second part of the program. It is a pity that Miss Dutton did not sing more than just these four; the audience was eager to hear many more.

Catherine Winslow returned to conclude the afternoon's recital. Miss Winslow contrasted the more modern compositions by Debussy, which seemed to be the favorites of both Miss Winslow and Miss Dutton, with the earlier music of Chopin. Miss Winslow played two compositions by Debussy: Reflets Dans L'Eau and Les Collines D'Anacapri. Both of these compositions were light and gay as contrasted to those which Miss Winslow played in the first part of the program.

Miss Winslow again displayed her versatility in playing Chopin's Mazurka in F Sharp Minor, one of the Waltzes, and Ballade in F Major. In rendering these compositions, Miss Winslow reduced the intricacies of Chopin to mere simplicity.

The audience's applause called back Miss Winslow for an encore, Schumann's Novellette.

The Musical Art Club of the Monterey Peninsula should be congratulated on presenting such a fine concert to the small but delighted audience, and in giving a well earned chance to two of the Peninsula's young concert artists, Catherine Winslow and Priscilla Dutton.

When we moved from New England we learned that Gas and electricity are cheap in California says Mrs. V. A. McGuire of Fresno, right, with her sister, Mrs. Edward Arvanigian

How P. G. and E.'s low rates save Mrs. McGuire money...

In their comfortable Fresno home, the McGuires use these appliances to save work, make life more pleasant.

The McGuires' P.G. and E. bill last month . . . $15.92
In her former Eastern home the same amount of gas and electricity would cost . . . $37.30

Upon coming to California in 1949, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire found that gas and electricity cost less than half as much here as in their former home. While 'most everything you buy has doubled in price since 1938, P.G. and E.'s combined rates are actually lower now than they were 15 years ago! Let bargain gas and electricity do more of your work, make your life more comfortable.

Girl's and Boy's State

Bruce Bixler and Peggy Weaver have been chosen by the faculty members to attend Boy's and Girl's State in Sacramento this June. This is a yearly honor, always given to two well-deserving students. Peggy and Bruce are both juniors at Carmel High School, and will return next year telling of their experiences. Peggy is the daughter of Mr. Robert D. Weaver of Pasadena, and Mrs. Lenore Weaver of Carmel. Bruce is the son of Ernest Bixler and Ruth Goddard Bixler, both of Carmel.

Peggy and Bruce spend five days along with other representatives working on and acting out a model scale government. At these conventions, the representatives of the different schools are leaders and scholars in their own alma mater.

The "ambassadors" were chosen on their scholarship and leadership. Although they do not know what countries they will visit, they do know that sometime during the three months spent abroad, they will live with a foreign family. The two will join other winners in the middle of June in New York, and will arrive home the latter part of August. This scholarship was open to juniors, so that they might return home to relate their experiences to their classmates.

Trip to Death Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lofton, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, and the Williams' daughter, Melissa, arrived home last Saturday after ten days of camping among the rare tamarisk trees and the quacking of wild ducks in Death Valley. The site of their camp was the old Eagle Borax Works, now taken over by the kingfisher birds and wild horses.

During the lazy days, Mr. Lofton painted ten pictures—five water colors and five oils. The weather, they stated, was hot during the day and warm during the night; however, the scenery was perfectly beautiful. While wandering around the desert, they came upon a writer, also camping in the area. He had found some artistic old arrowheads, evidently left there by the Indians of long ago.

Among the parties given by high school students this week was a surprise party for Karla Fritzsche, given by a group of girls from the junior and senior classes. The party, held at Miss Judy Oliver's, was a complete surprise to Karla, and a very happy occasion to be sure. Miss Fritzsche has attended Carmel High School for about a year. French sculptured crystal by Daum is now on display at O'KEEFFE'S on Dolores Street. All the pieces are forged and finished entirely by hand from reconstructed rock crystal. The pieces are decorative and functional. A crystal sculpture suggesting a flame is the piece de resistance. It is about 12 inches high and when placed in front of a fire or window would catch all the glow and highlights of the fire or sunlight. Daum has lovely pieces in vases, book-ends (flame shaped), champagne buckets, candlesticks for only $7.50, ash trays for $5.00, twin candlesticks and many other objects designed to catch the spectrum colors while they still serve a useful purpose. For French savoir-faire and know-how in home decoration, the hand-made rock crystal at O'KEEFFE'S will bring the light and effervescence to your home to add gaiety and fun.

An early clearance of spanking new cotton dresses, priced from $10 up to $19.95 is now being held at HARRIET DUNCAN'S on Sixth and Lincoln. These crisp new cottons were formerly much higher priced and you can select an attractive print, check or solid color in a style that will be usable now and through the summer. Be an early bird and forever hold your peace, for the selection is good, and the early bird will get the choicest of this wide and superb collection of HARRIET DUNCAN'S cottons.

Mrs. Ferguson of the SONG OF THE ISLAND is on hand from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. to serve you. All the merchandise in this small but wonderfully packed shop is directly from the Hawaiian Islands as the name implies. Her stock consists of perfumes from the exotic flowers there, wood roses, Lauhala bags, place mats, cigarette cases and a large selection of beautifully carved monkey pod wood.

Dora Hagemeyer, Poet

(Continued from Page Three) started writing poetry when she was in high school and she still loves her job. She went to college at the University of Otago in New Zealand. Since then she has published eleven books, among them two children's books, They are, Little Anne and Anne in the Periwinkle Patch.

One of her books, which came out this week, is called The Quick-en Tree which was written about one of her trees in her own back yard.

She writes all different but all short poems because she doesn't like long poems. They get too long and dragged out—she told us!

She is the editor of the Poetry Column in the Pine Cone Newspaper and has lived in Carmel for nearly 30 years.

Her hobbies are painting landscapes and gardening. In her painting of landscapes she does it without painting from the object. Her garden has flowers and several trees—some of which are from different countries.

—Laurel Martin, Jana Miles

ELIZABETH NILES, Librarian

Miss Niles went to Wellesley College which is near Boston, Massachusetts. After leaving college she went to a library and taught reading, typing, and crocheting to the blind. She was very interested in the blind. The librarian asked if she could take a staff member's place while she was on vacation. Finally, she decided to stay on because she liked the work very much. That is how she became a librarian.

She says some of the good things she likes about her job are: understanding, appreciating and liking people. Some of the bad things about her job are: finding lack of consideration for others in the library.

She has several hobbies. One of them is weaving; but she says that she hasn't used her loom for some time. Another is gardening. The reason that she likes gardening is because flowers are like people and need to be helped.

People often leave money in the library for books in memory of dear ones. Into these are put a library book plate on which is quoted "Books are men of higher stature and the only men that speak aloud for future times to hear." This was said by Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

Editorials...

President Dwight Eisenhower. Georgia is the only state in the union that has lowered their voting age to eighteen. Herman Talmadge, Governor of Georgia made this statement: "This law (the eighteen year old vote) has proved to be quite successful in our state. Our General Assembly is composed of many leaders who are quite young. Our college students always manifest a deep interest in political matters; our high schools sponsor annual drives urging people to register to vote.

"I do not know of any effects which this law has had in Georgia other than those which have been wholesome and for the best interest of the State Government."

"Reduction of the voting age would raise the average level of civic effectiveness."—National Education Association.

"I believe that as long as we draft eighteen year olds, they should be allowed to vote at that age."—Eleanor Roosevelt.

"I believe that youth is idealistic. The young will bring to our electorate a high degree of intelligence and courage and candor and enthusiasm badly needed today."—Ellis Arnall, former Governor of Georgia, leader of eighteen year old vote movement.

Many states have been presented with this amendment from one to five times. Sometimes it has completely failed, but in the majority it failed either in the assembly, committee, or in a few cases the people. Georgia, in amending its constitution to lower the voting age to eighteen, has not suffered from any major catastrophes.

One day I hope the Constitution of the United States of America will read, "Every citizen of the United States of the age of eighteen years and upwards . . . shall be deemed a qualified elector."

The Junior Statesmen at Carmel High School will be looking for petitioners on the eighteen year old initiative since they cannot petition legally. Are you interested? Also petitions for your signature are available at the Library, Kramers, Putnam and Raggett, Edys, Quality Market, Mahars, La Bonita, Piccadilly, and the Carmel Grocery.

Harriet Norman's 5th Interviews Library Staff

MRS. HELENE WOOD

Mrs. Wood handles the new books. She stamps them as the property of the Carmel Library. Then, she prepares them for circulation. First, she catalogs the books in the Accession Book and gives each book a number. Then, she pastes in a packet and makes a card. This is stamped when the book is taken out. A number or a letter is put on the back of the book to show where it belongs on the shelf.

Besides this work, Mrs. Wood works at the desk.

—Gregory Nielsen

MRS. EVERET HEISINGER

Mrs. Heisinger has been with the library for ten years. The Harrison Memorial Library itself is twenty-six years old.

Mrs. Heisinger was a teacher before she came to the library. She is married and has one child, a grown son. Her married name is Mrs. Everett E. Heisinger.

She has several jobs in the library. Here are some of them. She orders the children's books and gets them ready for circulation. She is an advisor and visits schools to talk about reading and new books. She directs the summer reading clubs. She also works at the desk putting away returned books if the desk worker is absent or busy. She likes children and is interested in helping them by checking out their books or in finding special books for them.

—John Durein

MRS. MARY INGRAM EDSON

Mrs. Edson takes care of the magazines. She sews the backs of the new ones. She makes cards for them and makes a record of them. She keeps the new ones in the library for about six months, then puts them downstairs.

She also helps at the desk. All the workers at the library do reference work.

Mrs. Edson went to a library school in Boston, Massachusetts. There she learned how to buy books, choose books, and catalog them. She also learned to mend the backs of books. She has been working as a librarian for about 16 years.

—Joyce Walker

MRS. PAUL MARSHALL

Her special work is at the desk. The desk is very important, for without it, the library would be only a reference library. With a librarian at the desk, people can take out books. There they can ask questions. Mrs. Marshall helps them to find the answers that can be found in books. They can get almost any book asked for.

The reason Mrs. Marshall wanted to be a librarian was that she liked books and people.

She trained in Cleveland, Ohio. She has worked with libraries for 11 years.

—Diane Miller

DAYLIGHT SAVING AGAIN

California sets its clocks ahead an hour this week end (April 26) as the State goes on daylight saving time again. As usual, the State greets the event with mixed feelings.

Students will probably be going to school in the dark and I don't think they will enjoy it very much. The annual Fireman's Ball is being held in Carmel Valley on April 25, and the time changes at midnight. They will be very upset when they find this out.

Most of the states of the Union and most of the countries of the world observe some form of daylight saving. And in several countries, clocks are advanced two hours, instead of one.

Edward Kennedy was introduced as speaker for the evening by Vincent Torras. Mr. Kennedy spoke on the history of newspapers and their hardships. Next week the program will consist of a color film of the 1952 Indianapolis Speedway races. The entire Cub pack of 32 boys and their leaders, sponsored by the Lions Club, will be the guests.

tennis courts, and various concessions such as a merry-go-round, and a small train, similar to the one at Fleishhacker Zoo, to run around the lake.

Mr. De Mello and his committee are supported by the Seaside Rotary, the Motel Association, and the sportsmen and small craft owners.

Also attending the planning commission meeting Monday will be a large delegation of Highlands citizens. They will protest the granting of a building permit for the construction of Casa Madura, a proposed old people's home to be built on the D'Ambrogio property in the Highlands. A recent poll taken of the property owners shows that an overwhelming majority are opposed to the project. The proposed home would accommodate approximately 400 people. The grounds of objection is that the institution is a variance to the existing zoning regulations which is designed to protect the residential character of the Highlands and would be a dangerous precedent.

Out in the Valley, though petitions are still being circulated for an election to recall the Tulare County School Board, Clifford Clarey, representing the petitioners, has asked the School Board to meet with a group of Valley citizens to arbitrate. Petitioners are willing to settle if the board will hire Sam Cooper for teacher. The reason for all this petitioning is the board's refusal to retain Sam Cooper as principal of Tulare County School, and the hiring of Wayne Greenfield on a three-year term. The petitioners want to have Mr. Cooper back if only as a teacher. There are some hopes that a friendly agreement can be reached.

The latest development in the Seaside incorporation question is the refusal of the County Board of Supervisors to legalize the petition because of the lack of valid signatures. In spite of this delay, the movement is still going stronger than ever in Seaside. The interested petitioners met last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Bessie Kramer to organize for another petition. They appointed Mrs. Kramer petition committee head and Jim Watson and Pat Dresham co-chairmen. They plan to obtain signatures block by block with the help of a block plaque furnished by the County Tax Collector's office. Shelburn Robison has been appointed legal advisor and a meeting officially to establish the boundaries is being planned for the near future. As soon as all of these technicalities have been taken care of, the petitioners plan to recirculate the petition and see that it goes through.

Crafts Guild, Hosts

Carmel Crafts Guild will be host to Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb, who is president of the American Craftsman's Educational Council and head of American House in New York. Mrs. Webb is on the Pacific Coast to judge a sectional exhibit of crafts at San Francisco Museum of Art. She will be in Carmel for Sunday only and will visit some of the craftsmen's studios. A luncheon at 2:00 o'clock at June Simpson's is being arranged so that all Peninsula craftsmen may meet Mrs. Webb and discuss various craft items. All craftsmen of the Peninsula are welcome to attend and should make reservations with June Simpson.

Movies at Kiwanis

The entertainment for Thursday's Carmel Kiwanis luncheon was furnished by Allen Knight, who presented a 30-minute color film of his Caribbean cruise last summer. Next week the Kiwanis plan a joint meeting with Pacific Grove at the Forest Hill Hotel.

The Life of Clyde Klaumann

BY MYRA MYLAR'S 4TH GRADE

Mr. Clyde Klaumann, Chief of the Carmel Police Department, came to Carmel Woods School and the Fourth Grade interviewed him. He did not mind telling about things that are personal. He has been a policeman for 17 years and three of those years has been Chief in Carmel.

The policemen have an important job. They help people to learn clip. On the 26th lap he finally overtook both Spear and Pollack, and from then on he was never threatened.

Also to be congratulated are Chuck Manning who, driving his special, placed fourth behind Pollack, and Sterling Edwards of San Francisco who took fifth in his Jaguar XK120C. Pollack had trouble with his brakes after the 20th lap. When Hill pulled up with him he tried to keep his heavier car up to the blistering speed, but it was too much for his brakes; he finally had to signal the Ferrari to pass him.

After the race Pollack was showing a mechanic his car in a check-up run when the stub axle snapped, sending the Cad-Aillard into a tree. Pollack suffered a broken nose, cracked ribs and a cracked ankle, and a slight concussion, while the mechanic, Charles A. Drucker of Los Angeles, suffered a broken ankle. They were kept at the Peninsula Community Hospital overnight.

The different classes were won by Pollack, Spear and, of course, Phil Hill. (Hill's class was two classes smaller than the large cars.)

The first race was just as thrilling. Ken Miles of Hollywood surprised everyone by steering his specially built MG to victory over the favored OSCAs and Porsches to win the Pebble Beach Trophy. Because of wet weather, the early race for under 1500 c.c. cars started more slowly, but as the road dried the average speed increased. Miles' time was 1 hour, 40 minutes, 16.4 seconds. The second place car was an OSCA driven by William B. David of San Francisco, and third place was taken by Walter Kieckhafer Jr. of San Mateo, in his Porsche.

It was a beautiful day for the Concours d'Elegance on Saturday. The wonderful weather saw many people on the lawn between the eighteenth green at Pebble Beach and Del Monte Lodge to witness one of the most beautiful collections of cars to be seen. All makes and models were shown, both American and European, modern, classic and antique. The winner of the hundred-odd cars displayed, was a lovely 1953 Austin-Healey owned by Peter Clowes of Mill Valley. The reserve winner was a red and black 1953 Ferrari coupe owned by Alfred Ducato of Ather-ton.

Some 7000 people turned up on Saturday to see the exciting novice races which had more entries than the entire list of drivers last year. The ten-lap race was won by an OSCA driven by Harvey Mayer, and owned by Ronald MacDougall of Los Angeles. Second and third places were taken by Bill Whittington of Belmont and S. Chick Leson of Lafayette.

Warren Gerdes of Corona del Mar led the big Novice Race, for cars over 1500 c.c., until the last lap when his Ardun-Overhead Ford powered special caught fire. (Although Gerdes' car was repaired and ran in the main event on Sunday, it was unable to finish.) The first four places in this event were taken, respectively, by: First, G. B. Laughlin of Balboa Island, in an Allard V2X; second, Ray Seher of Reno, in an XK 120; third, John Barneson of Lafayette, in another Allard; and fourth, Don E. Jones of San Bruno, in a Ford Special.

laws and to obey them. They help people cross dangerous streets. Also there are big traffic problems, speed, wrecks, and others. All of these are a part of a policeman's job.

One of the children asked Chief Klaumann when he came to California. His answer was that he came to California when he was born. He grew up in Monterey. His age is in the early forties but he looks as though he is in his early thirties.

He liked school very much and would like to be back in school if it were possible. While in school, he was in a hurry to get through but after he was working, school wasn't so bad after all. When he was in the fourth grade his teacher was Mrs. Mantel. He told our class that when he was in school they studied Mexico, too, as most fourth graders do. In those days they didn't have school traffic squads because there weren't enough cars to require patrol guards. He would always be either the cop or the cowboy. He attended Pacific Grove and Monterey schools. Instead of going to college, Chief Klaumann attended the F.B.I. Academy in Washington, D.C. and graduated there.

Mr. Klaumann came to Carmel, October 20, 1950. His home is on Guadalupe between First and Second and some of his neighbors are in our fourth grade. Maybe he could give us some startling information concerning them. His son is a teen-ager and had a birthday in March. He has a black Cocker Spaniel named Blackie.

A mayor of Carmel asked Mr. Klaumann to come and talk over some business. When he came, the mayor asked him to be Chief of Police in Carmel. He said, "Yes, I'll take the job." He likes his work and thinks of nothing else.

Law enforcement requires many branches of work. There are the F.B.I., Highway Patrol, Bureau of Missing Persons and others. Traffic, investigation, records, and foot beat are all an important part of Carmel Police work. There are nine men on the force and each serves eight hours a day. There are three office men, three patrol men, one traffic officer, one foot man, and a relief man.

It's an agreement among Carmel officers that they use 38 Specials unless for unusual occasions when they have 30.30 Remington, Reising sub-machine, or sawed-off guns. The pistol range for target practice is under the Standard Oil Station.

There have been very few criminals caught in our Village. The worst crook causing trouble was the one who held up the Standard Oil Station and Wait's Dairy. He is now in San Quentin.

Our police help Carmel citizens other ways than giving tickets or sounding sirens. Help is given to find lost persons or property, directions are given to tourists, or, when people go away for awhile, their homes may be checked to see if all is well. An officer from a neighboring town once commented to Chief Klaumann that he

Frank Hefling, one of the two paid firemen of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, is leaving the department and going to work in the Carmel Wine Shop in the place of Feliz Dowgiallo, who is going to give his full time to his produce business in the Carmel Drive-In Market.

Mr. Hefling has been with the Fire Department for six years, and was at one time on the City Council as Fire Commissioner. His father is Tom Hefling, city tax collector. It has not been determined as of yet who will replace Mr. Hefling.

Mr. Hefling says that he will continue his interest in the Fire Department and serve as a volunteer fireman as he did for many years before he became a paid fireman. —Mary Adams, Senior
